*Note on service animals

In the regions where Rocky Mountaineer operates, a recognized Service Dog is one that has been trained to perform (a) specific task(s) to assist a person with a disability. This definition does not cover or include "comfort," "stress" or "anxiety" animals whose sole purpose is to be present with their owner. On our Canadian routes, a recognized Service Dog is an animal that is certified by a government-licensed Service Dog trainer or trainer that meets the qualifications and standards of Assistance Dogs International or Guide Dog Federation."

Disclaimer:

You are solely responsible for reporting any mobility issues that may require special attention while on a vacation with Rocky Mountaineer at the time your reservation is made. Rocky Mountaineer will make reasonable attempts to accommodate your special requirements, but is not responsible in the event it is unable to do so, nor responsible for any denial of services by hotels, restaurants, motor coaches, taxis, or other independent suppliers. Rocky Mountaineer cannot provide individual assistance to a guest for walking, dining, getting on and off motorcoaches, and other vehicles, or other personal needs. Rocky Mountaineer strongly recommends a qualified and physically able companion to accompany those who need such assistance.

Not all locations including sightseeing stops accommodate wheelchairs and some locations and sightseeing activities require extensive standing, sitting or walking, sometimes on unpaved or uneven surfaces. Rocky Mountaineer is not responsible for any missed activities due to a guests inability to participate. Most transportation services, including the touring motorcoaches and taxis, are not equipped with wheelchair ramps.
